

Conboy's 'Operation Bedding' in full swing for marines overseas

Donations to the Adam C. Conboy Memorial Fund have begun flowing into the office of the Home-town Newspaper.

Mary Conboy, Adam's mother, picked up the first batch Friday. By Monday morning, several more bags of donated items were left at The Review office.

The donations of things that will make life a little more bearable for military people is part of Operation Bedding, which was what Adam called his effort to have his folks send items to the Marines with whom he was serving before his death last month.

Mary asked the Marines in Adam's unit for a list of things they would like to have. She submitted the list for The Review to share with readers:

- Small note pads
- Pens
- Magazines (slightly used are fine)
- Crossword puzzle magazines
- Sweat socks (black preferred)
- Deodorant
- Chap Stick
- Insect repellent

PITCHING IN...Phillies announcer Larry Andersen donates money for 'Operation Bedding' with Hair Jazz owner Jim Barr. Residents can donate money for the cause at Hair Jazz.

- Sun Screen
- Soap
- Foot powder
- Head bands
- Cans of tuna
- Slim Jims
- Pepperoni Candy
- Gum
- Single packets of drink mixes
- Eyedrops
- Baby Wipes
- Sheets
- Wash cloths
- Powdered laundry soap (small boxes only)
- Tastykakes

Donations can be dropped off at The Review during business hours, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Donations of cash can be sent to:
Adam Conboy Memorial Fund

Wachovia Bank
6128 Ridge Ave.
Philadelphia, PA 19128

Make check payable to Adam Conboy Memorial Fund.

Cash donations will be used to ship donated items.

Mary said it cost about $400 to mail the first batch of donated gifts to the Marines.